

禅
意

陆羽与禅意
LuYu & Zen Aesthetic

BW Chinese 102
Wen de.
2026.03.20

‘Growing at the Margins.’

A young orphan, secluded Buddhist monastery, independent, slightly detached perspective.

‘Travels in Nature and Experiential Daoism.’

Elder, scholarly, comparing water sources, observing tea plants in practice.

‘Tea as a Meditation and Inner Stillness.’

Zen tea ritual, by concentration on the moment and inner stability.

‘Synthesis and Balance in the World.’

being in the world without losing oneself within it,
and Confucianism, Buddhism, and Daoism.

陆羽

童年经历：在“边缘”中成长形成独立视角

Growing at the Margins and Forming an Independent Perspective

陆羽是弃儿，被寺庙收养。 Lu Yu was an orphan, raised in a monastery.

这带来两个重要影响：他不属于传统士族体系;也不完全属于宗教体制。他既“在里面”，又“在外面”。

This brought two important consequences: He did not belong to the traditional scholar-official class; Nor did he fully belong to the religious establishment. He was both “inside” and “outside” at once.

寺院生活：佛家气质的底层塑造 Monastic Life: The Formation of a Buddhist Disposition

在寺院长大，让他自然吸收了佛教（尤其是禅）的核心气质：

Growing up in a monastery allowed him to naturally absorb core Buddhist (especially Zen) qualities:

- 清净 Purity and stillness
- 简素 Simplicity
- 专注当下 Presence in the moment

后来他选择离开出家之路。这就产生了一种独特状态：他带着“禅的心”，回到“世俗生活”，于是茶就成了一种“世俗中的修行”。

Later, however, he chose not to pursue the monastic path. This created a unique condition: He carried a “Zen mind” back into secular life. As a result, tea became a form of spiritual practice within everyday life.

山水游历：道家自然观的具体体验

Travels in Nature: An Embodied Daoist Experience

陆羽不是书斋型人物，他大量行走：

Lu Yu was not a study-bound scholar; he traveled extensively:

- 山中寻茶 Searching for tea in the mountains
- 比较水源 Comparing water sources
- 观察地理与气候 Observing geography and climate

他的“顺自然”不是理论，而是经验：

His idea of “following nature” was not theoretical, but experiential:

哪种水最好 → 亲自试； Which water is best → he tested it himself

哪种茶最佳 → 实地看 Which tea is finest → he observed it in practice

这使他的思想非常“接地气”：自然不是哲学概念，而是可以感知的现实。这正是道家精神的实践版。

This grounded his thinking: Nature was not an abstract concept, but a perceivable reality. This represents Daoist philosophy in lived form.

唐代文化环境：三教融合的时代背景

Cultural Context of the Tang Dynasty: A Synthesis of Traditions

陆羽生活在唐代，一个非常开放的时期：

Lu Yu lived during the Tang dynasty, an open and dynamic period:

- 儒、释、道并行
Confucianism, Buddhism, and Daoism coexisted
- 文人、僧人、隐士频繁交流
Scholars, monks, and recluses interacted frequently

在这样的环境中：

儒家提供“秩序与规范”

； Confucianism provided order and structure

佛家提供“内心与觉悟”

； Buddhism provided inner awareness and awakening

道家提供“自然与自由”。

Daoism provided naturalness and freedom

陆羽并不是“选择一种”，而是自然地吸收并融合了儒佛道三家。

Lu Yu did not choose one tradition—he absorbed and integrated all three.

文人交游：把经验转化为“体系”

Literary Circles: From Experience to System

陆羽与当时文人（如皎然等）交往密切：

Lu Yu maintained close relationships with contemporary intellectuals, such as Jiaoran.

- 生活经验 → 被讨论 Lived experience → discussed
- 个人感受 → 被表达 Personal insight → expressed
- 实践经验 → 被整理 Practical knowledge → organized

最终形成《茶经》：从“我在喝茶”到“茶可以成文化系统”。

This process ultimately led to The Classic of Tea:

陆羽思想的形成：

边缘身份(视角) + 寺院经验(内心) + 山水实践(感知) + 唐代文化(资源) + 文人交流(表达)

最终生成一个完整的“茶之世界”。

The formation of Lu Yu's thought can be understood as:

Marginal identity (perspective) + monastic experience (inner orientation) + engagement with nature (perception) + Tang cultural context (resources) + literary exchange (expression)

Together, these elements gave rise to a complete and integrated “world of tea.”

《茶经》：世界上第一本茶的“百科全书”

The Classic of Tea: The World's First "Encyclopedia of Tea"

陆羽最重要的作品是——《茶经》。它不是简单讲“怎么泡茶”，而是将茶整理成一个系统：

It is not simply a guide on how to brew tea, but a systematic and comprehensive study that covers:

- 茶的起源与种类 The origin and varieties of tea
- 茶树的生长环境 The growing environment of tea plants
- 采摘与制作方法 Methods of harvesting and processing
- 器具（炉、釜、碗等） Utensils (such as stoves, kettles, and bowls)
- 煮茶与饮茶的步骤 The procedures of boiling and drinking tea
- 甚至饮茶的“境界”和礼仪 Even the aesthetic realm and etiquette of tea drinking

可以理解为：茶 + 科学 + 美学 + 生活哲学 的综合体 It can be understood as an integrated system of: Tea + science + aesthetics + philosophy of life

名利场与禅意

什么是“名利场” Vanity Fair?

“名利场”这个词，本身就带有强烈的社会意味。它常常让人想到：

The term “Vanity Fair” carries strong social connotations. It often brings to mind:

- 竞争 Competition
- 地位 Status
- 评价 Evaluation
- 成功与失败 Success and failure

在这个“场”里，人是这样存在的：我是谁，取决于别人怎么看我。

In this “field,” a person exists in the following way: Who I am is determined by how others see me.

什么是“禅意” Zen Aesthetic?

“我是谁，不需要被证明。” Who I am does not need to be proven.

它强调：

- 不执着 Non-attachment
- 不比较 Non-comparison
- 不被外界评价绑架 Freedom from external judgment

为什么这种冲突 (conflict)会让人疲惫 (exhausting)?

因为大多数人同时生活在两个系统里：

Because most people live within two systems at the same time:

- 白天：在“名利场”中运作 By day: operating within “Vanity Fair”
- 某些时刻：渴望“禅意”的安静 In certain moments: longing for the quiet of Zen

于是产生一种撕裂感：一边不断向外证明；一边又想向内安顿。

This creates a sense of inner division: On one side, constantly proving oneself outwardly; on the other, seeking inward grounding.

这就是现代人常见的心理冲突。

This is a common psychological conflicts in modern life.

为什么“茶”和“山水”(landscape)常可以调和冲突(mediate this tension)?

- 陆羽的茶
- 山水画
- 禅意

这些概念的共同点是：提供一种“退出名利逻辑”的空间。

They create a space to step outside the logic of status and competition.

不是逃避，而是：不被定义。

This is not an escape, but rather: A suspension of being defined.

很多人以为：

- 要么选择名利
- 要么选择禅

但更深的理解是：人在名利场中行动，但不被名利定义。这是一种什么状态？

- 外在：可以工作、竞争、表达 Outwardly: one can work, compete, and express
- 内在：保持不执着 Inwardly: one remains unattached

One can act within the world of status, without being defined by it. Is this not closer to the essence of Zen?

这是不是更接近真正的禅：“名利场”让你不断向外，“禅意”却让你回到自己？真正的平衡不是远离世界，而是：在世界之中，却不迷失于世界之里。

“Vanity Fair” drives you outward, while Zen brings you back to yourself. True balance is not about leaving the world, but: Being in the world without losing yourself within it.

山水画 (Landscape Painting)

山水画，这三个字，很简单，很直白。但是在中国人眼里，却是一个非常核心的文化概念：山水画画的不是山水，而是人与自然和天地的关系。

Shanshui painting—the term itself seems simple and straightforward. But in the Chinese worldview, it represents a central cultural concept:

Shanshui painting is not about depicting mountains and water, but about expressing the relationship between humans and nature, and between humans and the cosmos.

山：稳定、永恒、结构性的，像骨架；水：流动、变化、生命性的，像气息。山和水形成一个有生命的宇宙。

Mountain (山): stable, enduring, structural—like a skeleton ; Water (水): flowing, changing, vital—like breath Together, mountain and water form a living universe.

说到山水画，我们要了解三个核心概念：Three Core Concepts of Shanshui Painting

气(qì Vital Energy): 山有气势；水有气流；云有气动；山水间的人有气息。一幅山水画画得好不好，活不活，就看是否有气。气节、气势、灵气。

- Mountains carry force and presence
- Water embodies flow
- Clouds move with energy
- Even the human figures within the landscape possess breath and vitality

The true measure of a landscape painting is whether it feels alive—whether it has qi: moral force, momentum, and spiritual vitality.

意境 (Artistic Mood): 山不是山，水不是水，在山水中你看到的不是“物”，而是感觉、境界。孤独、宁静、空远、洒脱、自由.....

Yijing (意境) — Artistic Mood

In shanshui painting: Mountains are no longer just mountains, and water is no longer just water. What you perceive is not merely objects, but:

- Solitude
- Tranquility
- Vastness
- Ease
- Freedom

The focus is not the “thing,” but the state of being it evokes.

留白(Negative Space): 山水画里，你通常可以看到许多的空白，空白的是云、雾、水、空气，这些空白不是缺失，而是让看画的人走进画中，发挥想象，给你许多的空间，让你思索，用心体会，体会空灵的美。

In many landscape paintings, large areas are left unpainted. These blank spaces suggest clouds, mist, water, or air

This emptiness is not absence, but invitation:

It allows the viewer to enter the painting, imagine, reflect, and experience ethereal beauty.

在山水画里，你会发现，山很大，有时水很多，但人总是很小。因为人是天地的一部分，而不是中心。重要的是人与自然的和谐的关系，物我合一的审美境界，这是与中国传统儒释道的哲学相统一。

In Shanshui painting:

- Mountains are vast
- Water is expansive
- Humans are small

This reflects an important idea:

Humans are part of the cosmos, not its center.

What matters is the harmonious relationship between humans and nature—an aesthetic state of unity between self and world.

This aligns deeply with traditional Chinese philosophies of Confucianism, Buddhism, and Daoism.

当你在山水画中看到简、空、静时，你看到的已经不是一幅画，而是沉淀下来的心，一颗与世界建立了关联的心。

When you perceive simplicity, emptiness, and stillness in a landscape painting, you are no longer simply looking at an image.

You are encountering a mind that has settled—

a mind that has entered into relationship with the world.

禅意

“看山是山，看水是水；看山不是山。看水不是水；看山 还是山，看水 还是水。”这段话蕴含着深厚禅意。

最早对“禅”有文字描述是在秦代以前，但当 时没有具体名称。汉代开始，随着佛教传入，天竺的“jana”这个词引进到中国，当时人们将这个词翻译为“禅那”，后来逐渐简化确定为“禅”。

The earliest textual descriptions of “Zen” appeared before the Qin dynasty, although it did not yet have a specific name. During the Han dynasty, with the introduction of Buddhism into China, the Sanskrit term dhyāna (meditation) was transliterated as “chan-na” (禅那), which was later simplified to “Chan” (Zen).

禅文化是东方文化的精髓，植根于印度，兴盛于中国。佛教自 汉代传入中国后，逐步融汇本土的魏晋玄学、老庄哲学、儒学等文化思想，并使“禅”在自身发展变化的同时，也向社会各个领域渗透，形成内涵丰富、形式多样的禅文化。

禅与诗融合，成为“禅诗”；

禅与茶融合，成为“禅茶”；

禅与画融合，成为“禅画”。

禅文化千百年来 兴盛不衰，对中国的社会 发展和文化 进步影响巨大。

Zen culture is considered the essence of Eastern civilization. It originated in India and flourished in China. After Buddhism entered China during the Han dynasty, it gradually integrated with indigenous traditions such as Wei-Jin metaphysics, Daoist philosophy (Laozi and Zhuangzi), and Confucian (Kongzi) thought. As Zen evolved, it extended into many aspects of society, forming a rich and diverse cultural system.

- When Zen merges with poetry, it becomes Zen poetry
- When Zen merges with tea, it becomes Zen tea
- When Zen merges with painting, it becomes Zen painting

For thousands of years, Zen culture has remained vibrant, exerting profound influence on Chinese society and cultural development.

什么是禅？

禅宗六祖慧能大师所言立下禅的宗旨：“不立文字、直指人心、见性成佛”。禅无处不在，是一种智慧，直达人的内心，深入事物的核心，是对社会事物本质的感悟与把握。

So, what is Zen?

The Sixth Patriarch of Chan Buddhism, Huineng, defined its essence as:

“Not relying on words and letters;

directly pointing to the human mind;

seeing one's nature and becoming enlightened.”

Zen is everywhere. It is a form of wisdom that reaches directly into the human heart, penetrates to the core of things, and enables one to grasp the essence of life and society.

禅，讲求“静”，静静思考，执着进取。

禅，讲求“定”，要有内心的定力，守住本份，心怀忠厚。

禅，讲求“顿悟”，思悟人生真谛，以到达人生的新境界。

禅，从各方面渗透于人们的人生观和道德观，体现出一种对生活、对人生的认知和态度。因此，生活中的每一个人可以学习禅的智慧，从而提高修养，净化心灵，启迪智慧，认准生命的意义，走向美满幸福的人生。

Zen emphasizes:

- Stillness (静) — encouraging quiet reflection while maintaining purposeful effort
- Inner stability (定) — cultivating composure, integrity, and moral grounding
- Sudden enlightenment (顿悟) — an intuitive awakening that leads to new levels of understanding

Zen thus permeates people's worldview and moral outlook. It represents a way of understanding life and engaging with the world. Everyone, in daily life, can cultivate Zen wisdom—to refine character, purify the mind, awaken insight, recognize the meaning of life, and move toward a more fulfilled and harmonious existence.

禅是一种“外离相，内不乱”的清净自在的心理状态与生活智慧。

禅是超越执着、在语默动静中保持心境如月一般无染、空明与平静的觉悟状态，旨在实现心无挂碍的自由，在日常生活中达到物我平等、从容处世的智慧生活。

Ultimately, Zen is:

A state of inner clarity and freedom—outwardly detached from appearances, yet inwardly undisturbed.

It transcends attachment, maintaining a mind as pure and luminous as the moon—unstained, open, and tranquil—whether in silence or action. Its aim is to realize complete freedom from obstruction, and to cultivate a way of living in which self and world are in harmony, allowing one to engage with life calmly and wisely.

引文：中国文化研究院<https://chiculture.org.hk/sc/china-five-thousand-years/3194>
图片：摄图网 <https://699pic.com/>; Gemini